

The Faces of You

Write your name in the center face.

In three of the small faces write your personal learning teaching strengths, (e.g. independent learner, team player, cooperative learner and use interactive learning strategies.)

In two small faces write personal strengths that you have (e.g. communication skills, sense of humor, flexibility).

In one face write the languages you comfortably read, speak and process.

Mill around and find a partner who faces are least like yours.

Mill around the room and find a pair whose faces are different from yours. Make sure one of you is fluent in English.

Form a group of four and sit down at a table.
